

Countries	2012		2013
Argentina (2015)			Yes
Austria (2014)	Yes		Yes
Benin (2014)	Yes		Yes
Botswana (2014)		Abst
Brazil (2015)			Yes
Burkina Faso (2014)		Abst
Chile (2014)	Yes		Yes
Congo (2014)		No		No
Costa Rica (2014)	Yes		Yes
Cote d'Ivoire (2015)			Yes
Czech Republic (2014)	Yes		Yes
Estonia (2015)			Yes
Ethiopia (2015)				Abst
Gabon (2015)				Boycott
Germany (2015)			Yes
India (2014)	Yes		Yes
Indonesia (2014)		No
Ireland ((2015)			Yes
Italy (2014)	Yes		Yes
Japan (2015)				Abst
Kazakhstan (2015)				Abst
Kenya (2015)				Abst
Kuwait (2014)		No		No
Montenegro (2015)			Yes
Pakistan (2015)			Yes
Peru (2014)	Yes		Yes
Romania (2014)	Yes		Yes
South Korea (2015)			Yes
Philippines (2014)		No		No
Sierra Leone (2015)			Yes
UAE (2015)				No
USA (2015)			Yes
Venezuela (2015).		No		No

	2012		2013
Newly Elected 14 Countries
Algeria
China		No		No
Cuba		No		No
France
the Maldives		No
Mexico	Yes
Morocco
Namibia
South Africa
Saudi Arabia		No
the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
Vietnam
Russia
the United Kingdom

10 9 2 20 7 4

2012

Overall 21 members from 2012 are going to be the voters of 2014, out of twenty one 10 Countries supported US Resolution in 2012, 9 members opposed it, and 2 were abstented.

2013

Overall 31 Members from 2013 are going to be the voters in 2014 also, out of thirty one contries 20 countries favored the US resolution last year, 7 countries opposed the resolution, and 4 of them absented.

Us has already packed 21 votes who have voted in favour of the resolution last year and previous year also. The people who have voted against the resolution 2012, 2013 totally 9 of them is going to vote and 4 countries who have abstented will do the same this year also. abart from these countries 13 countries, 12 countries has to vote against the US Resolution. There is no chance of it... US has already won the Resolution in the poll...